Hi Karen--

Yes, Jayne is correct. We received a lot of comments in the last 2 days so it's taking our IT/web developers longer to put them all up (especially since several had a lot of attachments/supporting docs to deal with). I've been told the developers should be done today but may be another day before everything is pushed to the live server.

Hi Karen,

When I spoke with Allison at NOAA, she mentioned that the IT folks have been busy posting the comments but that it is taking some time. I suspect you are not missing anything. I cc'ed Allison so she can elaborate and possibly give you a timeframe as to when all the comments will be posted on the website.

Cheers,

Jayne

Jayne – when I look on the NOAA website, I only see 43 of the comments posted but I thought you said they were all available. Am I doing something wrong, or are they still working on the others?
